Developing a scientific apparatus generally requires the use of Computer Aided Design (CAD) software that can be used for 2D / 3D drawing and modeling of the design. This is the main reason for the development of a software program like CAD. So the company takes huge efforts to the development of a CAD software program, which can produce output in conformity with the product specifications. Besides that, CAD provides the basic option for designing process, the user need to have a good understanding of both designing and the related technique. With the help of CAD software, the user will be able to do their engineering project in a more effective manner, with some of the advanced features that it can offer. The intricate nature of the mechanical parts means that they must be accurately designed by using CAD. This is one of the reasons why the CAD design is an important aspect in the development of a product. When you plan to design a product, you need to determine the product design specifications in advance, to be sure that you will end up with a product that meets the requirement specifications. The CAD can be of help in the overall product development, the computer program will enable you to create some sort of product that can be used. In this way, a product will be designed in a way that will help to satisfy the end user requirements that the product should be in the market. The CAD software for Linux[Factors affecting the catalytic activity of boar spermatozoa]. Capacitation of boar spermatozoa takes place in a cascade of biochemical reactions. One of the effects of the cascade is the appearance of protamine, this inducing a sharp change in the viscosity of the ejaculates of boars. The objective of the present study was to determine whether osmotic protection of spermatozoa and the quality of the seminal plasma could improve the functional capacity of spermatozoa after AI. Semen parameters were evaluated before and after thawing. A semen sample from one boar was thawed and divided into four aliquots. The aliquot was centrifuged at 2000 x g for 15 min, immediately after thawing. The supernatant (aspirate) was added to the pellet and stored for 4 hours at 37 degrees C. The spermatozoa were centrifuged at 2000 x g for 15 min. The pellet was resuspended and incubated for 30 min at 37 degrees C. Thereafter, the spermatozoa were centrifuged and the supernatant was added to the pellet. The pellet was resuspended and incubated for 60 min at 37 degrees C. The final sperm concentration was adjusted to the final concentration after the last resuspension and it was divided into five aliquots to be inseminated into the females. Inseminations were made into the oviducts of estrous sows. Blood samples were collected on days 3, 5, 7 and 14 after insemination, for evaluation of progesterone and testosterone levels. In the first trial, the effects of treatment with the water-soluble (1 and 2% polyvinylp
